

Stories That MATTER

Each of us has amazing stories to tell about what matters to us, what's impacted our lives, and our ideas for how to make our community even better. Through Stories That Matter, The Colorado Health Foundation is working with Ross Strategic and Community Driven Initiatives to learn from and better understand the communities they invest in.

We invite you to share a story on any one of these areas:

- Food Access
- Outdoor Recreation
- Housing
- Youth Empowerment
- Immigrant/Refugee Experience
- Civic Engagement
- Equity in Access to Services
- Behavioral Health
- Early Childhood

We will provide compensation for your time and effort and will work with you and local community partners to decide how best to share your story in the community you live in.

For more information and next steps on getting started, visit our website:

<https://stories-that-matter.com>

We are excited for you to be part of *Stories That Matter!

